Best practices description & outcome of pest practices (At least wo):	Support from local community: The College receives ample support from the surrounding community and villages. The 51 bigha land on which the campus is constructed has been donated generously by the community. The community is very forthcoming for the betterment of the college. The local community has contributed for utensils for NSS unit which are used during 7 days camps. Prior to this utensils were borrowed which affected the finalization of schedule for camp. The music system donated to the NSS unit is very useful for conducting events and competitions at college level as well as practicing and performances for cultural events. Instruments and folk dresses have also been provided from the contribution of the community. The dignitaries visiting the college from time to time have showered the students with the spirit of generosity. The dresses for NSS volunteers and buses for educational tours have been provided by them. During the Prize distribution Function of the college, lunch for about 1500 guests was sponsored by local panchayats. For a small college with no funds earmarked for big purchases, the involvement of the community is vital and has helped sustained local culture as well as the betterment of college in many areas. The college in its turn organizes drives on various issues pertaining to health and sanitation, Road safety, Drug Abuse, National integration etc in the surrounding villages. During COVID Pandemic, The College organized a vaccination drive for the booster dose for the students and people from neighbouring villages. The volunteers from the college assisted the elderly in casting their votes during elections.	10 marl
	The community involvement has resulted in the creation of the biggest playground in this area. The staff of the college pooled resources with the general populace who provided JCBs and manpower for levelling area proposed for the building of playground. This initiative has benefitted the college in that the students now have access to a playground for practice for physical tests for competitive exams. The college now has its own space to organize sports and cultural programmes. This year the Annual Athletic Meet of the college and Intra Mural cricket championship organized by the Red Ribbon Club were held in the playground. In future, Prize distribution function may be held in the college ground. The local people have also utilized the ground for non- Political event organized by Chudeshwar Sewa samiti and a cricket competition organized by the local youth. This is a glowing example of the partnership of faculty with the public for reaping benefits for the institutions. Clean and Green Campus: The college is endowed with beautiful green surroundingd in the serene hilly Transgiri Area. The biodegradable waste is composted in a compost pit. iii. Rain water Harvesting and its use for gardening and cleanliness: Rain water harvesting system is operational. The water collected through the rain water harvesting system is used through a motor installed in the campus and used for cleaning purposes.
